stopping by woods on a snowy evening

whose woods these are i think i know.
his house is in the village though;
he will not see me stopping here
to watch his woods fill up with snow.

my little horse must think it queer to stop without a farmhouse near between the woods and frozen lake
the darkest evening of the year.

he gives his harness bells a shake to ask if there is some mistake.
the only other sound's the sweep of easy wind and downy flake.

the woods are lonely, dark and deep.
but i have promises to keep,
and miles to go before i sleep,
and miles to go before i sleep.

robert frost

foreword

life is a journey. like all journeys life has its gay moments as well as more serious overtones. this book is the chronicle of one small segment of that journey — your high school days. we have attempted to capture the essence of these momentous years. perhaps you will recall a forgotten moment once treasured so dearly or the face of an old friend veiled by the passage of years. if so, we have succeeded in our purpose. pause and gaze a moment, but don't linger long. life's woods are dark, its paths untrodden, and the journey long before you'll see the sun.
